OUUMC: Celebrating 175 Years

Sunday was a special day in our church's life, 175 years in the making. Special thanks goes to Rev. John Moore for leading our worship services. Thanks also goes to the hard work of our Stewardship and 175th Anniversary Teams—especially Dixie Jordan, Laura Smith, and Patty Tatum—our celebration luncheon was a fabulous success. We were honored with the presence of many members who have worshipped here for fifty years or more, including Mildred Davis, a member at OU for 75 years.

In conjunction with our 175th anniversary, we also celebrated Commitment Sunday. The 2012 Stewardship campaign is off to a great start. To our church families that have made commitments for next year, thank you for your faithfulness and generosity. If you have yet to make your commitment, please do so at your earliest convenience. Cards are available in the narthex and the church office.

2012 Pledge Update through Sunday, Nov. 13:

180 Pledges Received

General Budget: $780,361

Building Fund: $68,645

Compassion: $3,600

Average Pledge General: $4,335

The same 180 pledges received thus far pledged $658,270 in 2011, a difference of $122,091.

Sunday was a meaningful day in the life of the church as we recognized our past, present, and future. Thanks to everyone in our church family who made it possible.

Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow!

Celebrate Advent with the Characters of Christmas at The Journey

9:00 a.m., Activities Center

Advent, the four Sundays leading to Christmas, is a time when Christians "prepare" for the birth of Jesus Christ. During Advent at The Journey, we will highlight and explore some of the key characters in the Christmas story. And, as we look through their eyes of faith, we will prepare our hearts to meet anew the presence of the living Christ this Christmas season.

Sunday, Nov. 27: Eddie Willis (Ole Miss Wesley Director) preaches on Joseph

Sunday, Dec. 4: Greg Smith (OU's Youth Minister) preaches on the Innkeeper

Sunday, Dec. 11: Claire Dobbs (Assoc. Minister) preaches on Mary & The Christ Child

Thanksgiving Office Hours

The church office will be closed Wednesday, November 23, at noon, and all day Thursday and Friday (Nov. 24-25) for the Thanksgiving Holidays. Have a safe, joyful, and wonderful Thanksgiving from the staff at OUUMC!

2012 Altar Flowers

If you would like to place flowers on the altar Jan 1, 15, 22, 29; Feb 5, 12, 19, or 26, please contact Toya Bruss at (662) 832-3061.

Chuck Wagon Ministries

is an action of love, an action of faith, an action of hope. It is a support ministry to provide food to people in time of need. Much like the covered chuck wagon of days gone by, it provides goods to those in dire situations.

These boxes of food go to Lena Wiley at Interfaith Compassion Ministries for distribution.

How can you help?

Donate money, and we will shop and fill a Thanksgiving box to be delivered in your name complete with turkey ($40 for a full box, $20 for a turkey only).

Children's Christmas Drama

We want your Cookies!

We need Christmas cookies and goodies for our reception following the drama on Dec. 7. If you can donate, drop off your cookies or goodies in the Activities kitchen on Dec. 7. If you'd like to help set up and decorate, please call the Children's Ministries office, 234-4293 or pforrster@ouumc.org

Pantry Donation Cards

Give thanks and show your appreciation to others this holiday season with a Pantry Donation Card. A $10 donation buys you a beautiful holiday card to give in honor of someone special in your life. The inside of the cards read:

"In the true spirit of Christmas, food has been given in your name to the needy of Oxford through The Pantry.

"May the blessings of the Season surround you throughout the year."

Cards are available in the church office. Donations are tax-deductible and may be made to The Pantry.

The beautiful music of celebration at Sunday's 10:55 service was made possible by John McCauley's generous gift, The Shirley Ann Godbold McCauley Music Fund, which honors his wife Shirley's memory and her love of music. Many thanks to John and his family for this transformative gift to our church and our music program.

Rhakori joined OU in The Journey on November 13 from Mt. Zion MB Church in Verona, MS. He is a student intern with The Wesley Foundation at Ole Miss.

Presbyterian church in right background

As one church historian notes, "It would be hard to think of a more disastrous ending for the congregation, having suffered two losses by fire within a few months, both the parsonage and the sanctuary." But the city was generous and allowed the church to meet in different places throughout Oxford. Word of the loss spread widely, and support came from all over the state. Members of the church began making contributions, and careful records were kept. Likewise, careful records were kept of the expenses involved in building a new building. The minister was reassigned, but he made sure that Methodists throughout the state were kept informed of the continuing needs.

One writer explains the new building: "A Gothic brick building was erected on the site of the burned church in 1890. This building had a 'Sunday School Annex,' said to be one of the first of its type in this section of the country." The first service in the new church was probably in December 1891.

Membership increased, and more and more University students began attending the church. Some alterations and expansions were made, but it was clear that more space was needed. The church was given permission to hold Sunday school classes in the city's school building across the street.

People who remember the 1890 church believe the chancel area was at the south end of the building, with the pews facing south. Arthur Lewis, the oldest child of Dean and Mrs. A. B. Lewis, is certain that "the sanctuary had a single, centered pulpit, and that was true of the new sanctuary (now Wesley Hall)." Mrs. Mildred Davis' memory is the same. Lewis continues: "The room itself was five or six sided, a rather typical design from the late nineteenth century. The number I really don't recall, but it was not a rectangular room and the pews 'wrapped' around. It was a centered choir, I am almost certain." He adds: "I wouldn't even guess at the seating capacity. But I suspect it was of the order of that in Wesley Hall. I vaguely recall two aisles, but I am only confident it was more than one. I don't recall the chancel area at all."

Morris Lovelady thinks there were two entrances from Jackson Avenue, and Mrs. Davis also remembers entering from Jackson Avenue. Arthur Lewis has "a rather distinct memory of entering the church from 10th Street. Further, my memory, which may be faulty, is that the church had a flat face along Jackson. That is, there were no porches such as are shown on Jackson in the picture. Further, I thought we entered the sanctuary up several (six or eight) steps from 10th street. But whether we entered a hall or directly into the sanctuary, I really don't recall at all."

It is not certain where the Sunday school rooms were located. Arthur Lewis thinks the Sunday school rooms were along Jackson Avenue. Mrs. Charlotte Lovelady King and her sister Annie Maude joined the church there when they were children, and Mrs. King thinks there might have been stairs on the west side of the building which led to Sunday school rooms. Mr. Lewis thinks "the Sunday school area had three floors, but that comes primarily from the fact the Henry Hotel had three floors (actually, two floors above the stores on Jackson). I have no idea about a balcony (I don't recall one, but probably wouldn't have noticed) or a basement. I wouldn't guess at the number of rooms or where the church offices were. I don't recall windows at all."

Mrs. Earl (Martha Lyles) Wilson and Mrs. Mildred Davis also joined the church there when they were children, and both remember a pipe organ. Mrs. McCall was the organist, and she recruited Morris Lovelady to pump the organ. He pumped it, with handles similar to those on a wheelbarrow, with his hands and arms. Mr. Lovelady can remember looking out one of the windows facing Jackson Avenue when he was pumping the organ.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Davis (who said "It was the most beautiful church I have ever seen") remember the beauty of the church windows glowing, but Mr. Lewis remembers "as a little boy thinking what a dark and dreary place this sanctuary is." Mrs. Purvis (Eugenia Bramlett) McLaurin was never a member of the church but attended with her friends on occasion and thought they had a better time than did the children in some of the other churches. Mr. Lewis adds: "For a long time there were five stores on Jackson, all of which had at one time been part of the Methodist church (J.R. Cofield's studio was the corner store at Jackson and 10th). Finger's Dairy was on the corner of Jackson and 11th and there was a gap between the buildings. I believe there was a gap between the church and the stores on Van Buren. Strangely, I recall no bell tower although it may well have still been there. The facade was brick." The Henry Hotel was built where the church had been, and Mr. Lewis thinks "that while they did some re-framing of rooms, the basic floor structure was unchanged by the hotel."

The ministers who served this church were S. D. Long, 1890-91; J. E. Thomas, 1892-93-94-95; J. W. Dorman, 1896; R. M. Standefer 1897-98-99; R. G. Porter, 1900-01; J. R. Countiss, 1902-03-04; H. S. Spraggins, 1905-06-07; J. C. Parks, 1908-09-10; W. W. Mitchell, 1911-12; E. S. Lewis, 1913-14-15-16; W. W. Wollard, 1917-18; L. M. Lipscomb, 1919-1920-21-22; T. H. Dorsey, 1923-24; S. H. Caffey, 1925-26-27-28; W. H. Mounger, 1929-30-31-32-33; J. E. Stephens, 1934; and W. R. Lott, 1935-36 (church historians are especially grateful to Reverend Lott for writing the first extant history of the church). Three annual conferences were held in Oxford while the 1890 church was in existence: in 1893, 1897, and 1917.

LAVINRAC Wrap-Up

Thanks to all the hard work and extra effort put forth by Jenny Addy, Betsy Smith, Mandi Tosh, Katie Naron, Meghan Feltenstein, Susan Gunn, Judy Riddell, and Liza Fruge, this year's Lavinrac was a great success! A grand time was had by all, and we were able to raise over $2,000 for the Scott Center in memory of Amy Scott. Chili Contest winners were: Linda Taylor, first place; Brenda Norman, second place; Tony and Danielle Ammeter, third place; and Ashley Allen and Tracey Morgan, honorable mentions

Thanks to Shelly Diaz for these pictures!

F.I.S.H.

First In Serving Him for fifth and sixth graders

Our fifth and sixth graders are busy with three different mission projects. They have been busy filling Operation Christmas Child shoe boxes, decorating the church with information, & handing out brochures. Everyone is invited to fill up a shoe box and return it to the church by Nov. 20.

F.I.S.H. also had a campfire kickoff for their Chuck Wagon Ministry (see p. 3) Each youth brought cans of food and will help pack boxes to send to Lena Wiley at Interfaith Compassion Ministries for Thanksgiving.

Our group will then turn their attention to the Christmas season by helping to make angels for our Angel Tree and ornaments to be packed in Christmas boxes given out by the church office.
